Dear Hiring Manager,

As a first generation college graduate, I continually strive to follow my career based on the following principles: happiness comes from the impact you have on others, culture is everything, and the only time you fail is when you stop trying.

As a born teacher, I have seen my interests shift from teaching first grade/reading, to leading teaching initiatives, to now bring my skills and teacher-like work ethic to the private sector. My roles and responsibilities have always progressed, but my status as a teacher/leader has never changed. As an employee, I plan to bring the following...

1. Outside perspective and fresh eyes to an ongoing process
2. The right balance of professionalism and peppy work-ethic
3. A natural competitive attitude that goes all the way back to my collegiate softball days
4. Taking pride in my work and bringing my desire to growth with a company!

Some experiences and skills I'd like to note are...

1. Marketing B2B and B2C through digital and traditional outlets
2. Utilizing software in healthcare/retail/education setting
3. Corporate training
4. Presentations and public speaking

I strive to hit the ground running in this position and look forward to the possibility of working for your team.

Sincerely,
Holly L. Wood
